Investment Weekly

Commentary and Statistics

- U.S. equities finished slightly up for the period with the Dow Jones, S&P 500 and Nasdaq all posting gains. Gold was lower for the week following its largest daily decline of 2017. Oil also dropped. The 10-year U.S. Treasury yield closed at approximately 2.49%.
- Federal Reserve Chairwoman Janet Yellen stated that a rate increase is “likely to be appropriate” in March providing that upcoming economic data pertaining to inflation and the U.S. labor market aligns with the Fed’s expectations. Yellen added that, “The economy has essentially met the employment portion of our mandate and inflation is moving closer to our 2% objective.”
- Gross domestic product (GDP) grew 1.6% for all of 2016 compared to a 2.6% expansion in 2015. This is the worst growth rate since 2011.
- Pending home sales dropped 2.8% in January, against consensus for a 1.0% gain and the prior month’s 0.8% rise. The release cited an inventory crunch amid increased buyer traffic.
- Consumer confidence for February beat estimates coming in at 114.8 compared to the 111.0 consensus and up from 111.6 in January.
- Personal income rose 0.4% in January, slightly higher than the prior month’s 0.3% gain. Personal spending disappointed rising 0.2% vs consensus for 0.3% and the prior month’s 0.5% rise.
- Initial jobless claims hit a new trend low in the latest report. Claims fell 19K to 223K, better than the 244K consensus expectations and the lowest weekly level since March 1973. It was also the biggest weekly decline this year.
- Headline durable goods orders were up 1.8% in January, better than consensus for a 1.6% gain and ahead of December’s 0.5% decline. The gain followed two consecutive monthly decreases.

¹ As of 12/31/16, Voya IM assets of $217 billion include proprietary insurance general account assets of $89 billion calculated on a market value basis. Voya IM assets, as reported in Voya Financial, Inc. SEC filings, include general account assets valued on a statutory book value basis and total approximately $211 billion. ² Metrics presented use pre-determined criteria to measure each individual investment product based on its ability to either A) rank above the median of its peer category; or B) outperform its benchmark index on a gross-of-fees basis. Generally speaking, the results for unconstrained, fully-active investment products were based on relevant peer category rankings while those of "enhanced index", rules-based, risk-constrained, or client-specific investment products were based on benchmark-relative performance. Metrics are calculated on an annualized basis and includes mutual funds as well as pooled and separately-managed institutional portfolios that fall within our traditional (long-only) commercial book of business that remain open as of 12/31/16. If terminated and other accounts had been included, results may have differed from that shown. ³ Metrics are based on observations of rolling 3-year annualized returns over the last 30 months, calculated on an annualized, gross-of-fees basis, and includes mutual funds as well as pooled and separately-managed institutional portfolios that fall within our traditional long-only commercial book of business that remain open as of 12/31/16. If terminated and other accounts had been included, results may have differed from that shown. Source of performance returns and peer medians is Voya Investment Management but is based in part on data from Morningstar (mutual funds) and eVestment (institutional composites).
